Woman selling 'stolen' gold bar sought by police

A YOUNG woman who attempted to sell a gold bar at a pawn shop in Harlow is being sought by police investigating a burglary in the

The woman went into Cash Generators, in Market Square, to sell the gold bar but staff refused to accept the item and contacted police.

Officers have now released a CCTV image of a woman they want to question in connection with a burglary at Parsonage Leys during which a gold bar was stolen.

The burglary happened between 3pm on Sunday, December 1 and 2.30am on Monday, December 2. Items of jewellery were also taken. Anyone who recognises her or who has information about the burglary should contact PC James Bull at Harlow police station on 101.

Major developments should be discussed before work starts

SIR, So now it's official. Straight from the horse's mouth we learn that planning permission isn't required before development takes place (Star, December

From council leader Mark Wilkinson we learn that retrospective applications are "not unusual". As it happens, the application for permission to undertake the substantial development actually in progress at Princess Alexandra Hospital appears in a small public notice towards the back of the same issue.

Does Cllr Wilkinson even recognise how his asinine statement comes across to residents? Because construction work is well under way, local residents are enduring huge nuisance. A properly-constructed response to a properly-submitted planning application would have yielded conditions designed to protect residents from undue inconvenience.

Many of us who care about our town have long suspected that our elected members have but a vague notion about the planning process and legal requirements associated with development.

I am a member of Harlow Civic Society which monitors planning applications and tries to ensure that major development proposals are given thorough examination and opportunity to comment before decisions are made. One such is the absurd Essex County Council plan to pop a new Harlow M11 junction on to Gilden Way. The main advantage it appears is that it would be the cheapest option. Another factor is that affected landowners are quite keen apparently.

It won't help get traffic through the town. It will bring gridlock to an area which already experiences huge congestion and which is about to have another 1,100 dwellings dumped on it.

Essex County Council is pushing the Gilden Way option hard. I would urge readers to go and look at the displays about the proposals which can be inspected at the Civic Centre and which have been shown at several venues recently. Question the planners, seek the opinions of your own local councillors, and make your own views Harlow Civic Society will be holding is annual general meeting on January 20 at St John's ARC in Old Harlow. The proposed new M11 junction will be discussed. Essex County Council and Harlow Council have been invited to send speakers.

Council is not committed to protecting our green spaces

SIR. In response to the eviction notice served by Harlow Council on the travellers camped on land opposite St Mark's School and the comment that it wants to protect the town's green spaces, how is it that the same council thought nothing of allocating green space at Great Parndon to the Harlow Health Centres Trust?

Not all foreigners aspire to a life on benefits

email: star@hertsessexnews.co.uk / twitter: @Harlowstar / facebook: www.facebook.com/HarlowStar

SIR, In response to the four letters published under the headliner 'Stop reaping rewards of the struggles of others' (Letters, December 5), I am tired of this insinuation that foreigners are all out to take advantage of the British benefit

It is not an easy decision to leave one's home country but many us make the difficult choice to leave our family and friends to pursue better educational and professional opportunities.

With this in mind, it makes the notion that all foreigners aspire to a life on benefits and nothing more completely aughable. Personally, I don't understand this sense of entitlement to council housing expressed by the authors of these letters. I am not British but understand the benefits system is meant as a safety net, not a lifestyle choice. As far as I know, Harlow does not have a rental shortage so why aren't people simply renting flats or Frederick Gibberd's masterplan was to keep green spaces throughout the town for the benefit of the town's residents.

As the first administrator of the HHCT. isn't it incumbent on Dermot Byrne (Letters, December 12) to remember the pioneering ideals of the Gibberd plan for the town?

He suggests "the plans for a new Lister House to to serve the Staple Tye area are enirely in keeping with the health centre philosophy and aspirations of the 'new town' ideal". Is this his interpretation and understanding of Sir Frederick's plans? Sir Frederick intended that green spaces remain green spaces in perpetuity.

There is no real reason why the new Lister House health centre could not be built on the present site or expanded along Tysea Road, making an improvement to that area.

Isn't it extraordinary how the council can change its mind regarding green spaces when it suits them to do so

Tom and Maureen Topley Willowfield, Harlow

Label told us our recycling bin had been contaminated

SIR. The council is already carrying out recycling bin checks.

I, and presumably my neighbours with whom I share a recycling bin, recently received a letter from the council stating our bin contained contaminated waste. A label attached to the bin informed us that the contents would be taken away this time but that any further instances would mean the bin would not be emptied.

The label also informed us that the cause of the contamination was, and I quote, "dog

As neither my neighbours nor myself have ever owned or cared for a dog the contamination was obviously caused by someone walking their dog in this neighbourhood. I would just like to say that whoever did this knows who they are and should be thoroughly ashamed of shared housing rather than rely on Harlow Council to provide from them I can't understand

Also, simply adding 'I am not a racist...' alongside bigoted remarks doesn't make your comments any less hurtful, insulting your comments any less hurtful, insuring or racist.

I hope these letters are not an accurate reflection of views held by the majority of Harlow residents. Such close mindedness makes me incredibly concerned about the future of our town, especially as our communities become increasingly ethnically and culturally diverse.

We should be working together to become a safer and more cohesive community, not creating divisions with comments like the ones expressed in these letters!

Ticked off for throwing away just three bags of rubbish

SIR, I read that Harlow Council and its contractor Veolia are going to be doing random bin checks to make sure people are putting the right stuff in their bins. Really? Last week I had a tag put on my bin saying I had too much rubbish. I had three bags! The lid wasn't even lifted up due to there being too much in there.

I found this highly offensive. How often do they leave a tag saying thanks for not having too much rubbish for us this week? Priorities really need to be looked at I think!

Bulldozing housing estates would be a waste of money

SIR, Further to your front page report headline "Estates to be bulldozed for new housing" (Star, December 12), am I missing something?

This was done about 15-20 years ago. What a waste of money; why has it got to be done again? Is there no-one at the council who remembers this? There must be a memo or something in the archives?

Surely there is a another bit of land somewhere that can be built on. There is loads of land between Katherine's and Sumners, although I have heard that all the waste ground there is an old burial site. Come on Harlow Council, let's see some progress. Your are watching too much 60 Minute Makeover and DIY SOS.

three weeks ago regarding the 102 flats being built which I hope go to people on the housing list from Harlow. I would like to thank the four people who backed me up the December 5 issue.

It is refreshing to know that there are other people who feel the same as me, who have been on the housing list forever and are getting nowhere. Thank you for defending me; I hope for once that Harlow Council will now listen.

Just to clarify, I did not say anything in my letter about not housing people from other countries. I am not against people from other countries wishing to make a better life for themselves here, I just want the council to see that the people who made this town what it is, who paid into the system for years and whose forefathers did also should be given priority. priority

Bus company should make a small detour to serve hospital

SIR, I was very interested to read Ron Bill's letter about the lack of buses from Harlow Station to the hospital (Letters, December 5).

We are fortunate enough to have our own transport but there are many people not in this position. Parking is difficult at the hospital, time may be precious and the train is the only practical form of transport for

I have written to Arriva and hope for a reply. Let's hope they recognise the need for this very small detour.

We have to pay council tax without expecting handouts

SIR, My heart bleeds for Jawad Sharief who is obliged to pay council tax for a whole year (Letters, December 12). He should join the real world where most of us have been paying it for many years.

It's only a small percentage he is being asked to contribute anyway. Many of us are living in reduced circumstances but pay up without expecting handouts and email: star@hertsessexnews.co.uk MP: I wouldn't vote for pay rise'

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon says he will consider giving more of his salary to charity if an 11.4 per cent parliamenta-ry pay hike is forced through.

Sir Ian Kennedy, the chair-man of the Independent Parlia-mentary Standards Authority responsible for setting remuneration levels, confirmed on Thursday a recomnrmed on Thursday a recommendation that would boost politicians' bank balances by £7,604 a year. MPs are currently paid £66,396.

If public sector pay policy limiting increases to one per cent a year was followed, their pay would be £67,731 in 2015-16, but IPSA believes members should get £74,000 – an increase of £7,604 on their current level, or 11.4 per cent.

Sir Ian said: "The reforms we are introducing do not cost the taxpayer a single penny more and come on the back of our already having taken tens of millions out of the cost of politics with the changes we made to the business costs and expenses.

He explained that cuts had been made elsewhere in the system including getting rid of the generous resettlement payment system and ending the final salary pension scheme as well as further cuts

Mr Halfon said: "It is important to note the salary suggested by the independent body is far from guaranteed in 2015 - as there will be another statutory consultation after 2015. In my view the MPs salary should be guided by three principles: fairness to the taxpayer; fair wages and trans-

"On the first principle regard-ing fairness to the taxpayer, if there is a vote in the Commons before 2015, I will vote against such an increase because MPs wages shouldn't go up at the level suggested, when others in the public sector have had to struggle under a pay freeze.

"On the second principle regarding fair wages – in terms of accepting a salary, as I understand it, IPSA won't allow MPs to accept less salary and will only pay the full

"I will make a judgement at the time as to what I do with my salary I receive as I have no idea what it will be, how much tax I will need to pay to the Inland Revenue and what will happen in terms of the reduced pension. I already give some of my earnings to charity. If the salary is increased I hope I can do more

He concluded: "I can't answer for IPSA as to what they think the worth of an MP i, and I don't think it is right for me to judge. However, I do think it is incumbent on IPSA to explain properly to the public how they have reached their decisions, why they think MPs should be paid X or Y amount and what grading they compare MPs with, in terms of those who work in the public sector.

"Should MPs be paid the same as head teachers, BBC executives or senior civil servants for example? Without such explanation and transparency, it is not surprising that there will be questions from the public."

leenager punched in robberv

A TEENAGER was punched and robbed in a Harlow street on Monday.

The 19-year-old victim was walking in Minchen Road at about 9.45pm when he was approached by two men. One asked him for a light and the victim began to check his pockets.

The man then punched him in the face while his accomplice stole his gold JD bag.

The first suspect is described as white, 5ft 8ins tall, of slim build and aged about 20. He was wearing a blue baseball cap and a black zip-up hoody with grey jogging bottoms and black Nike trainers.

The second man is white, 5ft 4ins to 5ft 8ins tall, of stocky build and aged in his late teens or early twenties. He was wearing a grey hooded jacket with a white line on the sleeves and blue jeans.

Dave Archer, who founded the charity, said: "The event was a huge success. Huge thanks must go to all of those people who have supported the charity by attending the evening and to the companies and people who gave prizes. "We have only been running since February and have raised £12,000 so far, which has helped young people by paying for them to attend trips, purchase uniform and provide transport."

Church service a celebration of life of Mandela

MORE than 100 people attended a service of thanksgiving in Harlow for the life of former South Africa president Nelson Mandela.

The service held at the Kingsmoor Christian Centre on Sunday was organised by Labour councillor Daniella Pritchard, who said she was inspired to hold the service for someone "she looked

"It was a fantastic event and it was great to see so many people from the Harlow community come together to celebrate the life of a great man," she said. Among those who attended the service were Harlow MP Robert Halfon, Labour parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride and Harlow

Council chair Linda Pailing. Mr Halfon said: "I was very proud to be at the Mandela commemoration and that so many Harlow residents were there.

"Mandela spoke for unity, individuality, tolerance and community. He stood against dictatorships, scapegoating of races or creeds, and demagoguery These are the values which we all share in our town and why Harlow is such a special place to live."

Ms Stride said: "I have stood in the cell that Mandela was kept in for over 20 years and heard stories from fellow prisoners on how they were treated.

"Mandela's incredible choice to forgive those who had wronged him, to be willing to let go of the past so to reach for a greater future speaks to us of the importance of

Elderly in Harlow targeted in bank card phone scam

A GROUP of parents are celebrating after winning a long campaign for a zebra crossing to be installed near a Harlow

Parents of pupils attending Henry Moore Primary School have been petitioning for the crossing in Lane End, Church Langley for more than three years. It was installed earlier this month. Harlow councillor Eddie Johnson was given the honours of officially opening

Andie Norris, one of the parents who had been petitioning for the crossing, said: "We were all ecstatic. Up until the very last minute I was still emailing and trying to finalise everything but we are all so happy it is done.

"There were so many issues to cross the road safely and even with the crossing, cars are still going so quickly, but we hope this goes some way to help those walking to and from school cross the road safely." SIX elderly people in Harlow have been targeted by phone fraudsters since the start of the Five were contacted on Monday as the scammers extended their activities into new areas, mainly in south Essex.

Detectives say the tricksters have called 38 people in an attempt to steal large sums of cash by claiming they are police officers or bank officials.

In nearly all the cases they claimed that the target's bank account has been infiltrated and that suspects have been arrested on suspicion of the crimes. They then ask victims for their bank details and arrange to collect bank cards to use as evidence. However, the cards are used to money from victim's accounts.

Of the 38 incidents, two have led to cards being handed over to the thieves. It is not yet known if they were used to withdraw cash. Inspector Paul Wells, of Essex Police, said: "The suspects usually telephone victims, address them by their name and pretend to be a police officer from the Metropolitan Police.

"The fraudster is sometimes able to reassure the victim that the call is genuine by telling the victim to hang up and call them

Don't let opportunistic killjoys spoil your Christmas celebrations

WITH the festive period upon us I would like to take the opportunity to pass on some suggestions to help keep you and your property

Tips for a crime-free Christmas shop start before you leave your house. After all, you don't want to come home to find your home broken into

>>Keep your garden tools securely locked away in the shed. Burglars will be happy to use your tools to break into your house.

>>Create the illusion your home is occupied. Leave on a radio and lights on a timer in rooms you would normally occupy. There is even a device called 'Fake TV' that flashes a series of lights when it gets dark that looks like the television is on.

>>Lock up properly, not just windows and doors in the house but also any gates and outbuildings.

>> Choose a 'Park Mark' car park. By choosing a Park Mark® Safer Parking facility you are visiting a car park that has been vetted by police and has measures in place in order to create a safer environment for both you and your vehicle.

>>Leave nothing in sight within your car, remove the sat-nay cradle and clean the mark on

>>When you lock your car with the remote look for the lights to flash to confirm it is locked or better still try the door handle or, better still, try the door handle.

>>Watch your purse, wallet, mobile phone and handbag, especially in busy places. Don't leave them on display in bags or on counters while you pay. While you're paying check that no-one is watching you entering your PIN when making purchases or withdrawing cash.

>>Don't drop your guard when it's time to stop for lunch or a cuppa. A mobile phone on the table, shopping by the chair or a coat or handbag placed over the chair are all easy targets for thoroge.

>> Need to offload some of those purchases in the car? Look around to see if you are being watched and don't fall for any distractions while you load up your car such as "you dropped som money" or "can you tell me the way to...?" Whil you are engaged a second person could be stealing items from your car on the other side.

RE you giving or receiving a new mobile hone this yea? Then register it for free on www.immobilise.com by pressing "#B0# to obtain the IMEI number. Registering the phone will increase your chance of having it returned if OTS of people take the opportunity for a night out over the festive period. Our message is enjoy yourself, but drink and behave responsibly.

Most of the licensed premises in Harlow are engaged in a programme called 'Behave Or Be Banned', whereby people who cause problems can be barred from licensed premises across the town. A serious offence could see you banned from almost every pub/club/bar and some social clubs in the town.

THE major crime trend over the past few weeks has been a rise in theft of catalytic converters - part of the exhaust system- from large vans, particularly Mercedes Sprinter

If you own or use a van of this type or similar, please ensure it is parked in a well-lit area or secure compound if possible.

YOU may well see the mobile police office around the town over the next few weeks. We are looking to use this vehicle for neighbourhood meetings in the future. If you see the vehicle, please come and speak to us.

Finally, may I take this opprtunity to wish every reader of the Star a peaceful 2014.

A CHRISTMAS convoy of limousines led by Santa Claus drove through the streets of Harlow on Sunday as more than 30 children and their families were treated to a day out.

Local funeral directors Daniel Robinson & Sons treated the youngsters, who have all had a tough year due to bereavement or illness, to a VIP trip to the Playhouse panto.

They were picked up from home and taken to the Latton Bush Centre, in Southern Way, where they met

He then led the 11-strong convoy of limousines on a route around Harlow, escorted by two fire engines, five police outriders and 30 members of the Rough Creed bikers group.

When they arrived in the fown centre they were met by Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council chairwoman Linda Pailing for a lunch in the Civic Centre. It was then off to the theatre for a matinee performance of Dick Whittington.

Phil Barrow, funeral manager of Daniel Robinson & Soons, told the Star: "This year's event was truly humbling. It was a delight to see the families having such fun and feeling so special, something some of them have not felt for a while.

"Every year the support we get for this event amazes me. I would like to say a huge thank you to Harlow Fire Brigade, the Essex Police Motorcycle Team, Rough Creed Bikers, Sandra and Scott at Harlow Civic Centre and everyone else who has helped to make the event possible and the people of Harlow who came out to clap and cheer the families as the convoy passed.

"Most of all I would like to thank the families that came for sharing this day and making our Christmas special."

Hospice praised in health watchdog report

ST Clare Hospice has been given a clean bill of health following an inpsection by the Care Ouality Commission.

The Hastingwood-based hospice achieved full marks for essential standards of quality and safety in its care and welfare of residents, meeting nutritional needs, cleanliness and infection control, the management of medicines and safety, availability and suitability of equipment.

Battle of runways is set to rumble on CAMPAIGNERS battling to stop the expansion of Stansted Airport have this week welcomed the publication of an interim report into aviation capacity which favours Heathrow or Gatwick for growth - but warned their fight is not over yet.

The independent Airports Commission reviewing aviation capacity concluded there is a need for one additional runway to be in operation in the south east by 2030 but ruled out Stansted.

Stop Stansted Expansion chairman Peter Sanders said: "This is exactly the outcome that the entire SSE team has been working so hard to achieve all year. In truth, however, keeping Stansted off the shortlist was more than we dared hope for – but it is absolutely the right outcome.

"The environmental consequences of even one extra runway would have been catastrophic and there has never been a viable business case for any extra runways at Stansted."

However with Stansted spotlighted for growth after 2030, Mr Sanders "We must continue to engage fully with the commission over the next 18 months because we don't just want to win a reprieve for this generation but also for generations to follow.

"It will, therefore, be another two years before we can even think of letting our guard down."

Andrew Harrison, Stansted's managing director, was similarly happy with the verdict.

The airport already has planning permission to double its traffic to 35m passengers a year and he expected the Essex hub to play a big part in bridging the UK's immediate capacity gap while a further runway is built at one of its two London

Mr Harrison said: "Sir Howard Davies [commissioin chairman] is saying there will be a second runway built between 2030 and 2050 and we fully intend Stansted to play a part in that.

In the meantime, Manchester Airports Group which snapped up Stansted for £1.5 bn earlier this year, is pressing ahead with a raft of improvements.

Chief executive Charlie Cornish, said: "Since we took ownership in February this year we have already signed up new airlines and destinations to meet growing passenger demand. Our immediate priority is to continue to transform the airport experience for our passengers.

"As London continues to grow to the east and high-tech industries along the London to Cambridge corridor grow Britain's economy, Stansted has a critical role to play in supporting the country's economic growth.
"At the right time we will bring forward proposals for a second runway at the airport to support this growth."

Essex County Council leader David Finch said: ""The report echoes exactly what we said in our Flights of Fancy submission to Sir Howard Davies this year.

"We said that a four runway super airport at Stansted was unviable and unwanted. Davies has listened to us. We said that a second runway at Stansted may be inevitable but not for decades. Davies has listened to

THREE teenagers involved in an attack on a Polish man have been given a chance to mend

On Monday the trio – two aged 15 and the other 14 – were given referral orders when they appeared at Chelmsford Youth Court on Monday. Under the terms of the orders they must attend a youth offender panel with their parents or carer. If they do not comply with the instructions of the panel they can be referred back to the youth court to be re-sentenced.

The court was told that one of the 15-year-olds, from Sawbridgeworth, admitted racially aggravated assault in relation to the incident which took place at the Asda store in Harlow.

He also admitted being involved in a separate incident in Harlow in which a mobile phone was stolen from a young Imposing a nine-month referral order, chair of the bench Hazel Fox said: "Can you imagine how [the assault victim] was feeling. We think he must have been terrified.

In addition to the referral order the youth was also ordered to pay £50 compensation to the victim of the assault and £50 compensation to the victim of the robbery.
The other two teens, both from Harlow, admitted a charge of assault by beating and were each given a six-month referral order and told to pay £50 compensation, a £15 victim surcharge and £35 costs. Prosecutor Joe Bird said the victim of the assault, a Polish national living in Britain, was sitting on a bench in Harlow with a friend when the group approached him and asked for a cigarette.

The prosecutor said that when the youths heard his Polish accent they asked him: "What you doing here?" Both men got up to leave but the victim was punched to the floor and then punched and kicked.

In the incident involving the theft of the the mobile phone mugging on August 12, the victim was approached by three people and asked for a cigarette before a flick knife was produced. He was frisked and his Blackberry phone taken.

The winners were given their awards at a ceremony earlier this month. Also rewarded were 200 young people who passed their ISTD dance exams.

Scott Simpson, who runs the group, said: "Over the past 30 years Makin' Steps have put thousands of pupils through their exams and are proud to have maintained a 100 per cent pass rate.

"This coupled with an 86 per cent pass rate at honours is a testament to the high standard taught."

New ambulances allow guide dogs to travel on board with their owners

SPECIALLY adapted ambulances for blind or partially sighted patients will be unveiled by the East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust tomorrow (Friday).

The new vehicles are designed to allow blind

The new vehicles are designed to allow blind people to travel with their guide dogs. Guide dog owner Cynthia Easeman, who was involved in helping EEAST with the redesign, said: "If as a blind person you need to be in an ambulance you are totally unaware of where you are, why you are there and feel very much isolated and alone. Then to have your dog taken from you is like saying to someone else 'I will just take your eyes away'.

"Now we know our dogs will be in the new

"Now we know our dogs will be in the new ambulances with us, tethered for their safety and that of the patient and crew."
Paul Henry, EEAST's associate director of operations support, said: "This was a wonderful opportunity to work directly with patients to listen to what matters most to them and to make meaningful changes to our ambulances based upon patient feedback.

"From the advice received we have changed colours and contrast within the ambulance and, most importantly, introduced a means by which assistance dogs can stay with their owner in view of their vital relationship with patients who are blind or partially sighted."

Helen Sismore, of The Guide Dogs for the Blind Association, said: "To have an opportunity to work with EEAST means the two organisations can build a lasting association which really helps to break down barriers and improve patient journeys, making it less stressful for them and the guide dog."

Youngsters sing in festive concert

BLOSSOMS DAY NURSERY Youngsters showed off their singing talents when they staged a festive performance.

Parents and grandparents were invited to the Blossoms' Christmas Concert where the children, who dressed up in Santa and elf outfits, gave their best renditions of several traditional carols and festive songs. Staff, who donned their Christmas jumpers for the event, also offered the audience shortbread biscuits, tea and homemade mince pies.

Managing director Bobbi Chana said: "All our children had lots of fun and enjoyed the festive celebration, ringing the bells and dressing for the occasion."

Santa visits primary school's fete

TANY'S DELL PRIMARY

Christmas came early at the Mowbray Road primary when Santa paid a visit to the school bazaar.

Youngsters got the chance to meet Santa and his elf to tell him what they wanted to see under their trees on Christmas Day.

Christmas Day. It also featured stalls with games and bric-a-brac as well as mince pies, mulled wine and a barbeque.

The event, organised by the recently-formed Friends of Tany's Dell, raised £1,400 for the school, making it their most supposful foto.

Julie McAllister, the school's family support worker, said:
"It went extremely well and the children had a wonderful time

"The school has said it was our most successful fete yet and the Friends of Tany's Dell has now raised close to £4,000 for the school which is great."

All aboard for Christmas train ride

MILWARDS PRIMARY Pupils from the Paringdon Road school were taken on a trip to meet Father Christmas before they broke up for the school holidays.

Parents were invited to join their children and staff when they visited the Van Hage, garden centre at Great Amwell near Ware. There they met Santa in his grotto and enjoyed a ride on the centre's minaiture railway in action.

Reception teacher John Wix said: "It was a wonderful day and the children were captivated by the whole Christmas feel. "It was made even more memorable by the

"It was made even more memorable by the volunteers who run the miniature railway. Some of them took time off work to come along and open up the railway which is normally closed on a Monday to make our trip even more special.

"The children and all their parents had a fantastically festive experience."

Harlow Council Christmas & New Year Waste and Recycling Collections

Please remember to put food waste in newspaper or use compostable liners which carry this logo.

These liners are stocked in many local hardware stores and supermarkets. Food waste in normal carrier bags cannot be collected as the bags cannot be composted.

Recycle your real Christmas tree

You can book a Christmas tree collection online: www.harlow.gov.uk/green-waste for just £2 a tree or phone 01279 446655.

If you are signed up for fortnightly garden waste collections just put your tree out on your collection day.

Extra non-recycling over Christmas...

We will collect one extra bag of non-recycling per household on the first non-recycling collection after Christmas. Extra food waste can be placed in compostable liners on top of your caddy or in a cardboard box.

Extra recycling should be put out as normal. Visit www.harlow.gov.uk/recycle

Food waste tip:

Christmas means extra people and extra food; for tips to help you make the most of the food you buy over the festive season, visit www.lovefoodhatewaste.com

What to do with your waste in extreme weather

During heavy snow and ice, recycling and waste collections can be disrupted. For upto-the-minute information on collections visit www.harlow.gov.uk

Bulky re-use scheme

In order to prevent old household items going to landfill, we have launched a bulky waste re-use scheme with local charity ECCO. If you think that your items are suitable for re-use, visit www.harlow.gov.uk/bulky-collections or phone 01279 446655 and a representative from ECCO will contact you.

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MAX Raptor are promising to blow away your Christmas blues when they perform in Harlow at the weekend.

The four-piece will be rounding off their year with a show at The Square on Saturday.

In September the band's debut album Mothers Ruin was released, with a heavier sound and more socially aware lyrics than their well-received 2011 mini-album Portraits.

Vocalist Wil Ray told the Star:

"Portraits showed everybody what we are all about and it still has a bit of life in it - it's like a feral child that doesn't go away.

"But Mother's Ruin does seem like a seminal moment for the band. We are now waiting for the waters to break.

The album is thought provoking, with themes ranging from the power of the press, to class wars and the Arab

Wil explained: "It's just got so much more to it, it's not just love and picnics."

Meanwhile, the track England Breathes tackles immigration, noting that a country that is literally shaped like a lung has always operated based on a stream of people coming and going in both directions.

Wil explains: "People are still going on about the past and how it used to be, complaining, and all these clichés like 'our jobs have been taken' and all that rubbish. But the song is about that's the way it's supposed to be in England, that's just how it is. 'Get over it, England breathes as it does', it's a lung with people moving in and out."

Weller who has worked with Enter Shikari, Gallows and Young Guns.

"We have a really good friendship with Dan and we were in the middle of nowhere in this Methodist chapel in Lincolnshire, recording the album, and it went really well," said Wil. "It had a really weird but good vibe and was really intense.

Radio 1's Zane Lowe picked up on the band in the summer, which helped Max Raptor reach a new audience

Wil said the band are looking forward to performing at The Square.

He said: "We always put everything into our shows - a perfect remedy for Christmas blues."

Performing arts charity records Christmas song

A CHARITY set up to enable children, young people and adults with learning difficulties to access performing arts has recorded a Christmas single written by a published singer-songwriter and featuring 80 performers, 45 of whom have learning difficulties. Wishes for

Wishes for Christmas, has been written by Kirsten Gundersen, who has worked with some big artists in LA and Nashville as well as London this year, co-wrote an EP for a contestant on BBC One's The Voice The One's The Voice. The students performing the single include those from Bedazzle Theatre School in Old Harlow and Bedazzle Theatre Arts Bishops Stortford. The single can be downloaded from iTunes. Bedazzle founder Diane Janssen said: Diane Janssen said:

"We set out to make a single that would appeal to people in its own right, not simply because it is a charity record, as well as showcasing our students' talents. "As a published artist Kirsten knows what makes a great Christmas song."

Princely start to festivities with a reworking of an old favourite

WHETHER a scrooge or a lover of all things Christmas, you cannot help but fall under the spell of The Nutcracker Prince by Victoria Hall Performing Arts Association.

The cast and crew of the VHPAA have excelled themselves in this year's Christmas play which was a joy to watch, and the perfect start to the Molly Jenkins, who is no stranger to the stage, was brilliant as Clara and was one of the shining stars of the play with her sweet, good natured portrayal of the young girl who plays with dolls. It was very easy to become immersed in the storyline with the production team doing a sterling job with costumes, the set and lighting and a few clever tricks to ensure that the magic of the story would be bought to life.

The Nutcracker Prince is an old favourite but directors Jocelyn Johnson and Keith Mardell managed to create a new and exciting adaptation - written by Paul Johnson and first performed at the Victoria Hall Theatre 14 years ago - with the cast doing an excellent job in making the story truly come

Steve Hannam who wore a wonderful costume as the mouse King was just what the play called for in having someone to fear and loathe. He leant himself perfectly to the sardonic, and cruel demeanour of the mouse

There was action in bucketloads with sword fights between Jake Hannam - who portrayed the humble and brave Nutcracker/Hans wonderfully and the mouse King. The final sword fight in the Land of the Dolls excelled previous battles with turns, spins and enough clashing weapons to keep even the shortest of attention spans entertained.

Tony Saxby as old toy solider Pantaloon, Dolleen Howlett as doll Trudie and Milly Gladstone as doll Marie were great at providing a little comic relief and helping draw out the emotions of the audience.

Special mention should go to Carrie-Lee Stevens and Tasha Saxby who both played Princess Pirlipitane. They were great as the beautiful (and ugly) princess providing a little drama, a little magic and a lot of laughter.

VHPAA's adaptation of The Nutcracker Prince is the perfect way of getting into the Christmas spirit.

It has everything an audience could want from a festive piece of theatre: magic, action, humour, and a talented cast creating an enchanting production for all the family to enjoy.

GARDENING GIFTS by Hannah Stephenson

THINK of the festive season and you probably think of being snuggled up inside by a roaring fire – but put a new gardening book on your Christmas wish-list, and you could be thinking of your spring planting too.

Whether you're a grow-your-own beginner, or a more experienced enthusiast wanting to try something new, there's a wealth of inspirational and educational horticultural reads out there. Here's a few of the best..

published in hardback by Frances Lincoln, priced £14.99 ■ The Allotment Planner, by Matthew Appleby is

If you fancy taking on an allotment in the new year, or already have one you'd like to develop further, this handy guide will help you plan your planting schemes and give you insights into how to make the most of your plot – be that simply growing something new to eat or making money from your produce. Appleby has written it in a month-by-month format, with bullet point ideas in many sections and practical advice throughout. Clondeglass: Creating A Garden Paradise by Dermot O'Neill is published in hardback by Kyle, priced £25

This glorious book with beautiful, inspirational pictures, tells the story of the transformation of the walled garden at Clondeglass in Co. Laois, Ireland, from derelict, neglected wasteland to the stunning creation it is today. As the restoration is lovingly recorded, the author's own personal battle with cancer is also charted as he explores the positive, therapeutic role gardening can play in recovering from a serious illness.

■ The New English Garden, by Tim Richardson is

RHS experts make both factors easy with details on more than 3,000 shrubs, perennials, trees flowers and bulbs, and the best sites to plant them. The book is divided into two sections: locations and plants for effect, which suggests planting for different uses.

Perfect Patios and Terraces: How to Enhance Outdoor Spaces With Paving, Walls, Fences and Plants, Shown in 100 Photographs by Andrew Mikolajski is published in hardback by Lorenz Books, priced £3.99

If your patio needs sprucing up, this ideal stocking-filler may provide you with the inspiration you need. It offers ideas for paths and paving with bricks, tiles, cobbles, gravel, railway sleepers and mosaics, and how to use walls, fences, plants, furniture, lighting and ornaments on a range of sites including sunny, shady and windy, as well as structures suitable for children

■ Which? Choosing Garden Plants Made Easy is published in paperback, by Which?, priced £8.99 The Which? gardening guides are well-loved for their practical information, simple layout and easy-to-follow format. This latest edition is no exception and, as well as showing how to gain the best results, offers details on how each plant tested in trials by the Which? Gardening experts.

Family friendly tale is movie dino-mite

IN October 1999, six years after Steven Spielberg restored Tyrannosaurus Rex to the top of the food chain in Jurassic Park, the BBC unveiled its groundbreaking series Walking With Dinosaurs. Narrated by Kenneth Branagh, the programme employed state-of-the-art animatronics and computergenerated effects to step back in time to the Mesozoic Era.

The six-part journey into a lost world populated by majestic beasts captivated viewers and won numerous awards, including two BAFTAs and three Emmys. Now comes Walking With Dinosaurs - The 3D Movie, the next evolution employing dazzling visuals to explore a familiar story of triumph against adversity in the late Cretaceous

Screenwriter John Collee's simplistic script emphasises the educational aspects by repeatedly freeze-framing the action to provide us with the genus, English translation and feeding classification of each dinosaur.

Humour is pitched at younger audiences - the opening sequence is a feast of dino-poop - with occasional concessions to parents.

A clumsy yet well-intentioned framing device introduces Bulldust, the leader of a herd of herbivorous Pachyrhinosaurus. Bulldust must impose his authority on younger rivals while keeping an eye on his newly hatched brood including Scowler (voiced by Skyler Stone) and his weakling brother Patchi (Justin

As the siblings grow up, Patchi learns to compensate for his small stature to overcome the obstacles that life throws at him and woo his sweetheart, Juniper (Tiya Sircar). All the while his wise-cracking best friend Alex (John Leguizamo) keeps a close eye on Patchi as together they face the merciless Gorgosaurus, high-flying Pterosaurs and the chicken-like Hesperonychus.

Walking With Dinosaurs - The 3D Movie is visually arresting edutainment that makes fleeting use of the eye-popping format.

Scenes that might be a tad scary for the very young are preceded by a verbal warning from Alex, giving parents sufficient time to create a cuddle cage from the necessary

There may even be the chance of a clinch under the mistletoe People from far away may be getting in touch, or you may be making plans to get away yourself. Try to avoid giving vourself so much to do that you feel stressed. Delegate where possible, Taurus, Call me now for your love scope in full...

Gemini 22 May - 21 Jur There seem to be plenty of opportunities to get into the festive mode, both at work and amongst family and friends. Romantic opportunities certainly seem more plentiful However, try to avoid a falling out with a friend or even a love interest. A rebellious streak could encourage resistance to another nerson's suggestions - so do handle with care. Call for your love scope in full...

A lovely Sun Neptune connection may bring out the best in you and others There are opportunities to volunteer on a charitable basis as well as enjoying parties and get-togethers with friends and family. A conflict between domestic and career matters However, a creative compromise may work out really quite well. Call for more advice..

Leo 24 July - 23 Aug There could opportunities for fun and plenty of drama over this festive Uranus could highlight a spat that could take the edge off a special night out. However, as Mars is now coursing through the diplomatic Libra, a solution that suits everyone may come from a friendly discussion. Later, expect a surprise with an opportunity attached. Call for more..

Virno 24 Aug - 23 Ser A little organization and planning could go a long way to easing any financia worries. Though it might be easier to do that last minute shop without counting the cost a Mars Uranus link suggests setting limits and budgeting may make the week that much more enjoyable. If you are a solo Virgo, a romantic opportunity may seem too good to miss. Call

OW on earth do you take a success story and make it better? That's the difficult task facing Skoda with its all-concurring Veti conquering Yeti.

First introduced in 2009, the Yeti tore up the rule book with its novel approach to practical motoring, combining the best elements of a family hatchback with those of an SUV to create the ideal crossover.

The general public clearly thought it worked; over 250,000 have been sold since 2009 with a big chunk of those in the UK. But the competition never lets up, and so the Yeti has been enhanced, with the facelifted version arriving in showrooms early in 2014.

The change you'll notice first is the exterior. The Yeti has been brought more into line with the family look, so there's a squared-off grille, smarter body-coloured elements all round and new bi-xenon headlights with LEDs. The round fog lights are gone and replaced by more discreet rectangular items too.

Even with a more mature and discreet look though, there's no mistaking the Yeti for anything else. It still has that tough, planted look, and with new choices of alloy wheel and paint colour there's even more opportunity to stand out from the crowd. If you don't like the Yeti then these details probably won't change your mind, but the Yeti is distinctive in a sea of similarity and that is worthy of praise.

There's an added twist however. As well as the standard Yeti, there is the Outdoor model, which as its name suggests is better prepared for tough treatment. Outdoor models have a black trim down the sides and on the lower edges of the bumpers, so bumps and scrapes won't break your heart. The bumpers themselves are also of a different design to allow better approach and departure angles should you choose to venture off-road.

There are updates on the inside too with a new three-spoke steering wheel, new seat trims and fabrics plus the option of decorative inserts on the dashboard. It helps to lift the already-good quality feeling of the cabin, without sacrificing any of its utility.

Interior flexibility is still one of the Yeti's strongest assets. The load area is unchanged at 510 litres up to a maximum of 1,760 with all the seats removed, an impressive figure for a car of this size. There's still the flexibility to slide, fold and remove the three individual rear seats too, something which very few rivals can offer. Add to that some new tech, such as a reversing camera and keyless start plus clever features such as a rechargeable torch mounted in the boot and a highvis vest holder under the front seat, and you get the feeling that the Yeti could cope with just about anything about anything.

Especially if you go for the four-wheel drive version, now equipped with the latest generation Haldex system that automatically diverts power to all four wheels only when required which helps to save fuel as well as giving you traction when needed. In fact the new system means all 4x4 versions have reduced CO2 emissions compared to the outgoing models.

outgoing models.
Climb behind the wheel and getting comfortable is easy, with plenty of adjustment in the steering wheel and the seat, all topped off by a raised driving position that's a real boon.

It's also a delightfully easy car to drive; the manual gearbox is slick, the pedal weights are nice and light and the steering is well-weighted and accurate.

Notice of Confirmation of an Order Highways Act 1980 – Section 119 Essex County Council District of Epping Forest Public Path Diversion Order 2013 Footpath 10 Little Laver

The above Order, which was confirmed on 5th December, 2013, will divert a part length of public Footpath 10 at Envilles Farm, CM5 0JH in the Parish of Little Laver in the District of Epping Forest. The effect of the order will be to divert the path from a route which runs across their field to an alternative route along an established track where the public have already been walking for some time.

A copy of this Order and Order Map has been placed n and may be seen free of charge at Epping Fores
District Council Offices, High Street Epping CM16
4BZ and at the Chelmsford Public Library, Market Road, Chelmsford during normal working hours.
Copies of the Order and Order map are available on request from the Chelmsford Library at a charge. The new path will come into effect on 2nd January, 2014. But if any person aggrieved by the order wants to question its validity, or that of any provision contained in it, on the ground that it is not within the powers of the Highways Act 1980, as amended, or on the ground that any requirement of the Act, as amended, or of any regulation made under the Act has not been complied with in relation to the Order, he or she may, under paragraph 2 of Schedule 2 to the Act as applied by paragraph 5 of Schedule 6 to the Act, within 6 weeks from the date of this Notice, make an application to the High Court. Dated: 19th December 2013.

Mitchinson through to English last 16

HARLOW bowler Steve Mitchinson has qualified for the last 16 of the English National Champion of Champions com-

Having twice been a semi-finalist in this prestigious event, the Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club member now hopes to make it third time lucky and go one better by reaching the final.

Mitchinson won 21-6 against Andy Law from Bounds Green Bowls Club in North London. Previous to that he beat Joe Blackhall from Barking BC 21-4 and also defeated Eddie Fancourt (Havering

In the first round he was given a walkover by the Cheshunt BC champion.
"I have twice been a semi-finalist in this competition," said the 38-year-old,

of Challinors.

The finals will be played over the weekend of January 31-February 2 at Hayling Island in Hampshire.

Mitchinson recently played in an England international trial. Despite winning 21-12 at his Bush Fair-based club, he was not been selected for the England Indoor team.

Boss praised for letting Barkingside score

Chapman after he sportingly ensured hosts Barkingside were given a 'free' goal when Alex Read scored after the ball was put out of play so a home player could be treated for an injury.

The Harlow Town boss took quicker action than Arsenal manager Arsene Wenger famously did in an FA Cup match in 1999 against Sheffield United when he demanded a replay after Marc Overmars benefitted from a similar situation to score a Harlow chief executive Tom Cuningham said: "It was one of those one-off incidents that happened in a flash. Danny made the right decision and the whole team did the right thing.

"It showed great sportsmanship and set a good example for football. Nobody can say HTFC didn't win that game fair and square. We worked hard and never gave up on the three points. We showed real character and Alex rightly scored the winning Harlow Tn.. (Ryman Football League, division one north) goal and ensured a valuable win."

Half-time was approaching when Read tucked the ball in controversially on Saturday.

It had originally been kicked out by a home player as a Barkingside player was injured. Normally, when this happens in a game, the ball is thrown back to the opposing team.

However, Harlow's throw went off a defender before it fell to Read. After some hesitation he rifled the ball home and the goal stood.

Barkingside were left fuming and the Hawks, instructed by Chapman, then let the hosts score a second goal to even it up. This was netted by Jason Fontaine.

Braces from Read and Leon Antoine eventually clinched a 4-3 win for Harlow. The victory extended Harlow's unbeaten run to Antoine put Harlow ahead with an 11th-minute header before Barkingside equalised through Dan Callaway on 25 minutes.

After Read and Fontaine's goals, the home side then went 3-2 up through Matt Gulfer shortly after the break.

However, the Hawks fought back as Antoine netted in the 58th minute from a goalmouth

Typifying Harlow's never-say-die spirit this season, Read then scored a second on 80 minutes to give Harlow the lead again and they held on to this to take the points.

Harten says England a hot bed of netball talent

JO Harten believes there is enough young talent coming through the England ranks to continue and maintain their success at the top level of the sport globally.

Speaking after the Harlow net-ball star and her England team won the Team of the Year title at the Sportswomen of the Year Awards in London, Harten backed the England side for more success.

"We have young blood coming through and we have never been in this position, where we have a mixture of talent and so many versatile players in one squad.

Harten, a former student at Harlow's St Mark's School, is gearing up for the new netball season in the strongest netball league in Having switched to Kia Magic she will continue playing in New Zealand in the ANZ League, a comnetition she describes as the best

Late defeat dents Rams' promotion hopes

THE Rams' promotion hopes were dented by a 23-17 defeat at 10th-placed Old Brentwoods in the RFU London & South East division three north east

Having taken an early lead, Harlow had control of the game at 17-6 for the first three-quarters of Saturday's match but allowed Old Brentwoods to fight back in

Thanks to the bonus point for losing by seven points or less and the misfortunes of teams below, Harlow held on to their fifth place but the result goes down as yet another game they should Harlow started well and after six minutes a break by Rob Mackie, playing at full-back took play into the Brentwoods half.

He was held up but committed two defenders and off-loaded to Wayne Heapy who went over for an unconverted try.
Ten minutes later the home side reduced the margin to 3-5 after prop James Ephgrave was penalised for coming in to the side of a ruck.

Five minutes before the break intense rucking by the Harlow pack allowed scrum-half Rhys Powell to break wide and reverse pass to Mackie who powered his way over the try line.

In the final minute of the half Harlow were penalised for holding the ball on the ground, allowing Brentwoods to narrow the margin to 6–10 at the interval

The visitors started the second half well and with the slope and wind in their favour had the advantage in terms of both possession and territory. Early in the half their backs moved the ball wide for Mackie to come into the line and he sprinted over for a try converted by Michael Dobson for 6-17 lead.

Midway through the half the home side's number eight was allowed too much space and broke through to score under the posts. They converted to reduce the margin to 13-17.

Inspired by this they kept up the pressure, driving up hill into the wind and above all maintained discipline.

With 10 minutes to go they broke the Harlow defensive line to score an unconverted try for an 18-17 lead

Almost immediately on the restart they were back on the attack and their number eight made a good break. Powell tackled but the forward was able to off-load to the backs to run in the try. Although Harlow threw everything into the final eight minutes, Brentwoods held out for the win.

This Saturday Harlow are away to Upminster in the Essex Cup and then on January 4 they resume their league campaign against third-placed Sudbury. HARLOW: Ephgrave, M. Bowering, Stonehouse (Branch 65), Unwin, Twiner, Roberts, Drake, Eynon (Claridge 55), R. Powell, Dobson, Grimley, Heapy, Ellsworth, McMullen (Knightley 25), Mackie.

THE Rams second team and third team (Saints) both won their Essex Merit Table games.

The twos beat Maldon II 26–17 and the Saints defeated Writtle II 48-5.

Canaan takes South crown

MARK Hall student Canaan Solomon (15) confirmed himself to be king of his age group with victory in the South of England Inter Counties Cross Country Championships at Biggleswade, Beds. He added the U-15 boys cross country title to the 1,500 metres crown he won back in August.

Over the 4km mainly grassland course, Canaan, representing Essex, shared the lead on the first lap of two before breaking clear midway on the second lap. Canaan won at a canter in 12 minutes and 24 seconds, five seconds ahead of his nearest rival, from Kent. "We recognised that the Kent runners, would provide a threat so a plan was put in place for Canaan to break about 1,000 metres from the end. Canaan will train hard in the next two months in readiness for the national and inter counties in February," said Essex coach John Harlow Athletic Club's Lewis Harknett was in the eight-strong U-13 Essex boys team. Lewis finished the tough 3km parkland course in 24th position in 11.10 out of 90 finishing athletes, and was third fastest of Essex in his age group.

Morris's coach role at Australian Open

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.ul

TENNIS coach John Morris has high hopes for his new protégé as he prepares to take on 2013 Sports Personality of the Year winner Andy Murray and Co at the Australian Open next month.

Morris, of Ram Gorse in Harlow, is getting ready to fly out to Australia for the big tournament after being appointed head coach for Slovenian top 100 ATP player Aliaz Bedene.

The Harlow coach has been managing Hungarian starlet Timea Babos, the junior world number two, who has previously won the junior French Open, Wimbledon and U.S Open girls doubles, as well as current world junior number one Nick Kytgios.

But Morris (31), based at the Gosling Tennis Centre in Welwyn Garden City, has switched from managing back to coaching to take on the challenge of leading up-and-coming star Bedene in his bid for success in Melbourne.

Bedene, who is 6ft and righthanded, has already defeated former Wimbledon finalist David Nalbandian and top grass court player Stanislas Wawrinka during his relatively short time on the ATP tour.

Morris will be the only British coach coaching a male player in the Australian Open.
"I am the only British coach coaching a player at this level.

"I am the only British coach coaching a player at this level. For me personally it's nice that Aljaz has offered me the role," he said. "It is something I have thought about doing. I genuinely feel I can help the player. He has got potential. It's a great opportunity to help him fulfil his potential. I was helping him out and he asked me would I be his coach. I said I would love to."

He has high hopes for Bedene this season.

"He has been living in the UK for the last couple of years," explained Morris. "I've been working with him for six days a GREAT TEAM: John Morris, left, and Aljaz Bedene (s) week. He has qualified for the main draw [at the Australian Open]. He has had some good wins over Wawrinka and Nalbandian. He is a good, young player. I personally think he could be a top 50 player – that is the goal for us.

"I think once we have done that we will try for the top 30, and then reassess."

Born in the Slovenian capital Ljubljana, Bedene's switch to a British coach is certainly a feather in the cap for Morris. Bedene and Morris have been Bedene and Morris have been working hard at the Gosling centre as they prepare for the Australian Open.

"At the moment we go out there with little expectation," said Morris. "He had an injury to his left wrist. We have made changes and we are now bedding them in.
"He is expelled of grien party."

"He is capable of going pretty far if he can stay fit and healthy. If the draw is kind to him in the early rounds, there is no reason why he can't go far. Definitely people won't like to see their name next to his."

Morris is working on his back

Morris is working on his back hand and strength and stamina to make him a force in the game. "For me he's too light. He was 71 kilos, now he's 76 which is a lot better. Murray is 6ft 5ins and 80 kilos. If he is playing in heavy-weight games he has got to get his weight up. His back hand needs to be a bit more aggressive and I am improving his second serve. That is our focus. I have changed his grip on his back hand."

Town swoop for brother of midfielder Smith

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman has swooped for the 20-year-old younger brother of Hawks midfielder lames Smith.

George Smith joins Harlow Town from Calor Southern League premier division side Biggleswade Town.

The attacking midfielder started his career coming through the ranks at Southend United, before his switch to Ryman premier side Hendon in September 2012.
While with the Shrimpers, he had loan

While with the Shrimpers, he had loan spells with Great Wakering Rovers and Farnborough, and has also featured for the Republic of Ireland youth teams and had a spell in his home country with Dundalk.

James Smith had joined Harlow in the autumn and has been an influential player.

Meanwhile, Harlow advanced to the quarter-final of the Essex Senior Cup with a 1-0 home victory over Ryman League division one north rivals Redbridge on Tuesday (December 18).

Tuesday (December 18).

Alex Read scored the only goal on 20 minutes when he flicked the ball in after Leon Antoine's effort hit a post and the visitors were unable to clear.

James Smith was shown a straight red card for a foul near the end but Harlow were able to hold on and now visit Braintree in the last eight. This tie will take place in the new year. Harlow are in action this Saturday at home to Soham Town Rangers.

This kicks off a busy festive period. Harlow are away to Waltham Abbey on Boxing Day, hosts Thurrock in what could be a title crunch match on Saturday December 28, and then host Ware on New Year's Day. Chapman said: "Soham will be a tough game. Although Thurrock is Essex we don't see it as a derby. Waltham Abbey and Ware are our derbies.

"We only have to look at our result against Waltham Abbey at the start of the year. We were 3-0 up but got beat 4-3. Anything can happen."
